Titanic Struggle

New Stalin On Horizon?

LONDON (UP)—Diplomatic sources said last night that Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev has emerged the winner in a titanic political struggle in the Kremlin.

Some western diplomats fear he might aspire to become another Stalin, without restraining influences.

There was general agreement that Khrushchev had engaged in a struggle for supremacy in which the outcome was sometimes in doubt.

Sources said Khrushchev had an extremely difficult time swinging the Kremlin behind him in his struggle to smash the power of Zhukov and the threat of the Red Army to his ambitions.

It appeared to experts that Khrushchev, who needed Zhukov's support to oust the Molotov trio last summer, steadily had increased his power to the point where he no longer needed Zhukov and could act against him.

Dulles Sees Danger

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday the new Kremlin shake-up may reflect internal Russian troubles which could prompt the Kremlin to embark on dangerous new foreign adventures.

He said that a country's foreign policies sometimes "become provocative in an effort to divert attention away from domestic difficulties. That is always a possibility which we must be constantly alert to."

Dulles conceded he did not know whether the removal of Zhukov was "good news or bad news." But, he added, "we don't want to give the impression that we think there is war around the corner."

CAIRO (UP)—President Nasser said yesterday on the first anniversary of the Israeli invasion that "victorious Egypt" bears "no rancor or spite" against the old enemies. Egypt had simply watched "sink one on top of the other into shame and oblivion."

Thrown in Parliament

Bomb Wounds Israeli Leaders

JERUSALEM (UP)—An escaped mental patient threw a home-made bomb onto the floor of the Israeli parliament yesterday, wounding Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and four of his cabinet ministers.

Minister of Religious Affairs Moshe Shapiro was injured seriously in the head, arm and stomach, and Minister of Transport Moshe Carmel suffered a broken arm. They were later reported out of danger.

Ben-Gurion, Foreign Minister Golda Meir and Health Minister Israel Tarzilai suffered minor injuries and were able to walk from the building.

The assailant was identified as Moshe Ben Yaacov Duek, 25, who escaped recently from an Israeli mental hospital.

The bomb exploded between the cabinet table and the Speaker's chair. The 120 persons in the gallery beat Duek until police rescued him.

Ben-Gurion, Foreign Minister Golda Meir and Health Minister Israel Tarzilai suffered minor injuries and were able to walk from the building.

'Can't See Silver For the $2 Bills'

OTTAWA (CP)—Rev. Dan McIvor said Tuesday night it isn't fair to Western farmers to suggest they are "all hard up." The 84-year-old Liberal MP for Fort William, Ont., a United Church minister, explained it to the Commons this way:

"Formerly it used to be all coppers and nickels" in collection plates of Prairie churches. Now "you can't see the silver for the $2 bills."

Bennett Awaits Advice

Premier Bennett yesterday refused to make any further statements regarding the bribery allegations against former lands and forests minister Robert E. Sommers until he has received advice from the attorney-general's department.

"Just as soon as I have more information I will make a further statement," he said after being bombarded with questions at his first press conference since Mr. Sommers' slander suit against David Sturdy was dismissed.

Opposition party leaders have demanded that the provincial government order an immediate judicial inquiry into the charges made against Mr. Sommers.

Yesterday morning the premier summarized the events connected with the affair since former Liberal MLA J. Gordon Gibson resigned after charging that "money talks" in the issuance of forest management licences.

He capped the summary by saying:

"Now, apparently because of the illness of Mr. Sommers, the case has been thrown out of the courts. I have therefore asked the attorney-general's department for advice."

He said he would not wait until Attorney-General Robert Bonner returns from his trade mission to Europe before getting the departmental ruling as to what government action should be taken.

Accused Man's Wife Leaps to His Defence

Mrs. Robert E. Sommers yesterday challenged Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy to either "put up or shut up" regarding charges that her ailing husband accepted bribes during the time he was minister of lands and forests.

"If he thinks he has a case I am sure he's free to prosecute anyone in the courts he wishes to," she told The Daily Colonist.

Mrs. Sommers, in a fighting defence of her husband, also said the former minister would return to Victoria from his undisclosed location shortly "and he's going to continue on as an MLA" representing the people of Roseland-Trail.

She added she was confident Mr. Sommers would vindicate himself. She added that it was her understanding that all the photostatic "evidence" which Sturdy had gathered in his defence in the slander suit was in the handwriting of Charles Eversfield.

Mr. Eversfield took off for California shortly after he is supposed to have made copies of documents purporting to show that Mr. Sommers received sums of money from lumber interests. He said yesterday he is willing to return to B.C. to testify at a judicial inquiry if one is called.

"I think those documents are as untrue today as they were when Eversfield left for a foreign country," said Mrs. Sommers.

"As a lawyer, Mr. Sturdy chooses an unusual field, the newspapers, to prove alleged wrongdoing," said Mrs. Sommers. "He should put up or shut up."

She said it was not even certain that her husband is yet aware that the courts dismissed his slander suit against the Vancouver lawyer.

"I suppose he has heard by now. I'm not sure, but I suppose he has," she added.

CHARLES EVERSFIELD
... in California

Mr. Eversfield, in a telephone interview with a Vancouver newspaper, said yesterday he took documents from the office of his employer on the chance he might be called to give evidence in an investigation of forest management licences.

He said he removed the documents from the Vancouver offices of Pacific Coast Services Ltd., at a time when former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson was denouncing the government's handling of forest management licences in 1955.

Cut Your Thumb and Die

Where Did You Go? Out What Did You Do? Nothing

By ROBERT PAUL SMITH
Chapter Three

We grownups are always around pumping our kids full of what we laughingly call facts. They don't want science. They want magic. They don't want hypotheses, they want immutable truth. They want to be, they should be, in a clearing in the jungle painting themselves blue, dancing around the fire and making it rain by patting snakes and shaking rattles.

It is so strange: nobody, so far as I know, sat around worrying about the inside of our heads, and we made ourselves safe. Time enough to find out, as we are finding out now, that nothing is so. Not even close to so.

But then: facts, facts, facts. If you cut yourself in the web of skin between your thumb and forefinger, you die. That's it. No ifs or buts. Cut. Die. Let's get on to other things. If you eat sugar lumps, you get worms. If you cut a worm in half, he don't feel a thing, and you get two worms. Grasshoppers spit tobacco. Step on a crack, break your mother's back. Walk past a house with a quarantine sign, and you get sick and die. Cigarets stunt your growth. Some people are double-jointed, and by that we didn't mean any jazz-like very loose tendons or whatever the facts are. This guy had two joints where we had one.

We got our schoolbooks, and went home and in a drawer in the kitchen was a pile of wrapping paper saved from packages, and we folded covers for the books in a certain way. Some kids came to our town from New York City, and they told us that you could go to a stationery store in New York, and buy covers for schoolbooks, but we got them over lying like that.

The drawer with the wrapping paper was the drawer with the string. We were rich. We could have had a ball of string if we wanted one, I guess. But we didn't and nobody I knew did. We had pieces of string.

To this day I cannot understand why, right now in my Continued on Page 3

Unthinkable Before Missiles

North America 'In Jeopardy'

WASHINGTON (CP) — De-velopment of the intercontinental ballistic missile has placed the North American continent "in such jeopardy as would have been unthinkable 25 years ago," Brig. K. A. Hunter, director-general of joint medical services for the Canadian armed forces, said here yesterday.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of America, Brig. Hunter said the North American continent, untouched by enemy faces a situation that is "radically changed." "Now, we in North America are presented with the dual problem of providing medical components for those military force which we will require for fighting both inside and outside the continental limits, and also with the problems of providing the medical services for the day-to-day requirements of a civilian population of 190,000,000, and, in addition, the medical care for civilian war casualties which may well run into the millions."

$5,037 Spent On Kin Park

Expenditure on development of Kinsmen Gorge Park totals $5,037 to date, Coun. James Bryant told Esquimalt council Monday.

Development plans include a foot bridge from Slough Place over a recently pumped-out slough in the park. Piles 120 feet long have already been driven.

Meanwhile, Gyro Club of Victoria yesterday approved expenditure of $5,200 for landscaping of the club's 4½-acre park development at Cadboro Bay.

Jovial Nikita Sounds Off

1. Zhukov—New Job 2. Mid-East—Easing

LONDON (UP) — A jovial S. Khrushchev made an extraordinary appearance at a Turkish Embassy reception in Moscow last night.

Between champagne toasts he provided cryptic answers to three outstanding questions.

IN KEEPING

—He said ousted Defense Minister Marshall Georgi Zhukov would be given a new job in keeping with his experience and qualifications.

—He said Mid-East tension has eased.

—He did not give the appearance of a man involved in an all-out grab for supreme power.

NOTHING DECIDED

He said that no job had been decided for Zhukov but that Zhukov is "in good health. I saw Zhukov today. I spoke to him."

Khrushchev's appearance was extraordinary in that it came in the midst of deliberations by the all-powerful Central Committee which western diplomats believed not only would determine the future of Zhukov but perhaps of Khrushchev himself.

COMPASS NEEDLE

Added was the fact that for weeks Turkey has been the target of Soviet charges that the Turks planned to attack Syria.

Speaking of mideastern tensions, Khrushchev said:

"If you look at peace as a compass needle, you can say it has gone a little way toward peace."

World concern over the progress of events in Moscow was reflected in a news conference held by U.S. Secretary of State Dulles in Washington.

Dulles said that the current power struggle in the Kremlin requires the United States to be alert for a possible Russian adventure — either military or diplomatic. But Dulles did not expect a war.

Dulles said he did not know whether the Zhukov situation meant "good news or bad news."

But he said the Soviet Union was under tremendous stresses. And he added that while dictatorships usually seem to present a calm exterior, terrific convulsions go on underneath.

Diplomatic sources in London believed that Khrushchev had run into trouble in the central committee.

UN Ignores Demand For Action in Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Despite renewed calls by Syria and Russia for action in the Middle East dispute involving the Turkish-Syrian border, the United Nations assembly continued Tuesday to hang back on any commitment there.

Assembly President Sir Leslie Munro adjourned until Wednesday the Middle East debate at the end of the morning session without any formal submission from either side for some kind of investigation of the Syrian claim that Turkey is massing troops on her border for an armed invasion.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko called once again for the UN body to take up "urgently" the "dangerous" situation on the Middle East border.

Constructive Proposal

ALL of Victoria will be interested in the current proposal by the Capital Region Planning Board that Cathedral Hill be reserved as the site for future joint development of provincial and civic public buildings, to be grouped in a unified community centre. The site is without question the most outstanding one in Victoria that is still available. Such buildings as a courthouse, land registry, city hall, possibly a museum—and we would suggest an auditorium—would combine well with the magnificent Cathedral, the Royal Theatre and the B.C. Power offices already there. The site, some 6.5 acres, would appear adequate while the location is without peer in Victoria's environs.

While Victoria has learned through experience not to confuse plans with completions, whether in courthouses or anything else, it is encouraging that the thoughts of the regional body have progressed to the point where the reservation of land use is seen as necessary. Without accepting the drawings as final or attempting to read into them more than may be at present implied, there will be hearty endorsement of this new direction sign pointing towards action on a community centre project. The proposal that the province and the city combine and co-ordinate requirements for such a development is sound and worthwhile. The precise nature of the works and the timetable for development can be worked out later. At present it is the site which is paramount, and one imagines there will be accord on that.

One is glad to see recognition of the need for a good public square in the drawings. Outside of the lawns of the Legislative Buildings there is no real gathering place in a community whose combined population has long passed the 100,000 mark. Parking is another problem, and thought should be given now to conditions which must arise if and when a considerable block of public buildings is erected on such a site. Modern practice has been to resort to sub-level garages and parking space below the street surface, especially where high-value property is concerned. One has only to mention a civic auditorium, for instance, and the need for parking space can be visualized immediately. The case is not different for many of the buildings mentioned.

What we like best about the suggestions of the Capital Region Planning Board to the city council is the implication of action, with teamwork as the guide. Reservation of the hilltop site would be a good first step.

Government Could Set Example

DURING the B.C. Social Credit League convention in Vancouver last week Health Minister Martin caused a minor sensation when he announced that the government was launching an immediate investigation into what he described as the alarming increase in prices of medicines and drugs. It was not disclosed on what facts the minister based his allegation, but if his department is in possession of information that there have been unwarranted increases in prices it is entirely proper that the government should examine the situation. Aside from hardship of over-charging, if there is any, on individuals this is a matter affecting public expenditures where the department pays the bills for medicines and drugs of pensioners and indigents.

If, however, the provincial government is genuinely concerned about the increasing burden of drugstore bills on the public generally, it is in an excellent position to make the first move towards bringing the cost down. If the government lifted the sales tax from all such items, that would be equivalent in a great many instances to a 5 per cent cut in the price of pills and palliatives. Five cents on the dollar might not appear as an appreciable measure of relief, but sickness is a heavy drag on the domestic budget and there are a great many people to whom every penny counts.

It is true that sales tax is not charged on medicines and drugs sold on a doctor's prescription. But there are thousands of people who cannot afford to call in a doctor for the less serious ailments and who resort to various types of commercial painkillers and medicines for relief, not to mention bandages, dressings, disinfectants and lotions for minor physical injuries. The range of taxable items supplied by druggists is extremely wide, but aspirin is a good example of the inequity of sales tax policy. Aspirin is the standby of the medical profession, recommended for countless purposes, including relief of arthritis. If sold on a written prescription it is tax-free; if purchased otherwise 5 per cent must be added.

It is difficult to fathom the reasoning behind these rules. Aspirin, cough syrup, laxatives, disinfectants and the like are not luxuries. No one buys them for pleasure, and why they should have been included in the tax schedule in the first place is a mystery known only to the defunct coalition administration.

University Education

IN HIS installation speech as chancellor of UBC Dr. A. E. Grauer said that higher education—that is, university education—should be available to all citizens. That is a point of view which on the surface seems impeccable; it can be subject to analysis however. Not every citizen has warrant for attending a university.

The idea that all men are equal is a fine one, in the human sense. The truth is that all men are not equally endowed, and on some a university education is wasted. For many working purposes also it is unnecessary. What there might better be these days is a separation of purely technical education from the higher academic studies, something that could be achieved by technical colleges which obviate the need for normal university courses. This would reduce the pressures on universities considerably.

It is a fact that numerous university students are in attendance only because this is the thing to do and their parents can afford to indulge them. Their gain in the social eclat supposed to attach to such attendance. Universities should not exist merely as finishing courses, but should be reserved for those with the capacities to benefit from higher learning.

By contrast of course any boy or girl of obvious ability should not be deprived of a university education for lack of means, although unfortunately this is still too often the case. Yet if universities were saved the money and effort expended on teaching the "passengers" it might be possible to see that no one scholastically deserving went without the chance to further his or her higher education.

School records indicate the students who deserve university entrance, not by a mediocre pass level but with regard to the potential made clear through the years. Large university enrollment sounds fine but it is not necessarily a criterion of merit, and merit should be the only passport to a university. Some of the financial problems of higher education would be eased if universities were reserved for those whose mental gifts warrant the opportunity. These latter would also benefit by the limitation, as would the public purse now saddled by ever-increasing education costs.

Interpreting the News:

Germany Steps Up Training

By OMER ANDERSON
North American Newspaper Alliance

BONN—Alarmed by recent Soviet scientific achievements, the West German government is undertaking a program to increase vastly the training of German scientists and technicians.

A unified National Scientific Research Council is being formed, which, supported with government money, will co-ordinate and channel all German research into certain priority fields.

Funds will be allocated to leading German universities and technical schools to expand science training courses. Federal and state authorities will co-operate in establishing several thousand scholarships for talented youth.

In addition to direct governmental measures, private German industry plans to expand greatly science student scholarships and in-plant scientific and technical training programs.

After the war, encouraged by Allied occupation authorities, West Germany's educators shifted from traditional heavy German emphasis on scientific training to the liberal arts and humanities. Within recent years, this trend has been checked and now will be reversed.

Even before the launching of the Soviet earth satellite, the West German diplomatic mission in Moscow had been bombarding the foreign office in Bonn with data on the vast scope of Soviet scientific and technical training.

Samples included information that Russia is graduating 2,000 nuclear physicists yearly, compared to around 50 in West Germany. As early as 1950, Russia graduated 28,000 trained engineers. At present, Russia is training 60,000 engineers at university level and 70,000 in technical colleges. By 1960, the total is to be increased to 200,000.

West Germany's Social Democrats are urging that the Bonn government reduce its reliance on two Western nations and go it alone in the scientific sphere.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

DURING the TV broadcast of the opening of Parliament one commentator aroused interest by saying he would tell the story of the rosette on the back of Black Rod's coat—and then he went off at a tangent and never did tell the story.

Many video viewers were a bit exasperated, their curiosity having been stirred only to be left unsatisfied.

One result was that a number of people telephoned yours truly to see if I could explain the rosette's significance. Being too lazy to do my own research work I dropped a note to Gerald Waring, our Ottawa columnist who writes on this page. He very kindly interviewed Black Rod himself on the subject.

Black Rod, of course, is properly speaking the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, the Senate official who found the Commons door barred to him when he brought a summons in the Queen's name, a gesture designed to emphasize the free will of the Commons. As you know he knocked on the door with a slender black rod, from which he takes his official title.

Mr. Waring advises me that the rosette is vestigial rather than symbolic. That is to say it has a prosaic origin, although its retention is indicative of the relish taken in perpetuating old customs and ceremonials of dress.

The rosette is what is left of the very utilitarian "wig bag" used in days when men took more pride in their coiffure than they do today; the days when men wore wigs, and tarry wigs at that. The tar was put on the pigtails of the wig to weight it and keep it straight, and as can be imagined the tarry tail didn't take long to stain the wearer's clothes. Hence the ingenious little wig bag affixed to the coat into which went the tarry end.

When wigs, or at least tarry ones, went out of fashion, the wig bag remained in the vestigial form of a rosette, simulating the mouth of the wig bag with the draw string tightened. That is what TV watchers saw on the back of Black Rod's coat as he advanced towards the Queen in Parliament.

Mr. Waring adds that the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod is not the only parliamentary official to display this adornment. The speakers of the two houses, Senate and Commons, the deputy speakers, the clerks and the Commons' sergeant-at-arms all have the rosette sewn on the inside of the backs of their uniform coats. (Why on the inside I don't know.)

Those who wear gowns—the speakers and the clerks—wear the wig-bag rosette outside their gowns.

That then is the story the TV commentator began to tell before his attention switched to something else. It is an interesting piece of history, reflecting the fondness men have for clinging to ancient things even in the midst of modern progress. Parliament is linked to the past, which is why we enjoy the form of government we do, and nowhere more so than in the embellishments that have grown to be part of its tradition.

I am indebted to Mr. Waring for enabling me to save the disappointment of those of my readers who have been wondering about the Black Rod and his rosette.

Setting for Imminent War

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE Syrian government and the Soviet Union have accused Turkey and the United States of planning an imminent armed attack on Syria, and in the UN Syria has asked for a thorough UN investigation.

The Soviet charge was first made in Moscow to James Reston, reporter for the New York Times, by Nikita Khrushchev, who told him he had positive "documentary" evidence that the United States was inciting Turkey to war, warning that should Syria be attacked Russia would go to her aid. Reston expressed himself as flabbergasted by the charge.

Turkey has complained of hostile Syrian troop movements on her border. Indicating the possibility of a Syrian attack backed and incited by Turkey's northern neighbor, Russia, and the United States has reiterated her intention to stand by her NATO ally should Turkey be attacked, warning also (as Khrushchev also warned the United States) that America would not spare Russian territory in that case.

Thus each great power has made a commitment to war in case an aggression is committed against a country under its protection.

Turkey is a member of NATO. This is a formal, open alliance operating for common defence in case of attack on any of its members. That the United States regards it as purely defensive was demonstrated a year ago when America refused to support Britain and France, chief NATO allies, in their expedition together with Israel against Egypt.

The Soviet Union has no formal, open alliance with Syria, who declares herself to be neutral. Yet someone is inciting or encouraging someone to rash and belligerent gestures in a highly explosive area. Is it the United States, giving the green light to Turkey as charged by Russia? Or is it the Soviets egging on Syria? Are the Soviet charges merely propaganda moves?

If they are, Khrushchev is dangerously overreaching himself.

On any border where troops are deployed by states at loggerheads shots can be exchanged—as they have been between Syrians and Turks. Who fired first is incidental. Whether such an exchange results in a general conflagration is never decided by the principals. In this case Syria and Turkey, but by their seconds, in this case Russia and the United States. If either of these wants war the excuse for it is at hand. World Wars I and II began that way.

Now, Khrushchev is behaving as though he wants war and is creating the build-up for it. He is making charges against Turkey and the United States of the most fundamental and outrageous character. He has dismissed the danger from manned bombers carrying atomic warheads as obsolete, and is riding the top of the wave of a military advantage that he must know will prove as temporary as the American atom-monopoly.

He must positively not be allowed to get away with these charges. The U.S. is not inciting Turkey to aggression, nor are the Turks in a mood for it. Inept as this column believes American Middle East policy to be, and childish as we consider the "Eisenhower doctrine," the Russian charges are, indeed, "flabbergasting." Since we believe a full investigation will reveal their falsity, we think the United States should back Syria's demand for one, advocate withdrawal from the dangerous frontier, recommend sending a UN patrol to it, and demand cessation of the radio war.

We were in Turkey less than a year ago when Turkish-Syrian relations were already strained. Turkey has done no injury to Syria or any Arab states and has no aspirations in the Arab world, which she once ruled but it glad to be rid of.

But the Syrian radio was even then blasting Turkey in the most unstrained manner, clearly indicating that her leaders felt safe in doing so. For if the Turks were to take up arms against such provocations and no great power were to back either country, the Turks could give Syria and whatever Arab allies she could muster the shelling of their lives. It is therefore logical to assume that Syria, not Turkey, has been "incited" by a great power, namely Russia.

Some of the men in the military junta ruling Syria are arrogant, show-off, and dangerously unrealistic and stupid. This is by no means true of the whole Syrian government that formally retains an almost defunct authority which, for Syria's own sake it should, if it can, recapture.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

TOMORROW night is Halloween; and if, as is very likely, you are not in on the UNICEF program for Halloween in your house, you ought to be ready to greet any children who come to your door with the special boxes and ask for a shell-out for UNICEF.

For they will be the forerunners of what well may be, in a very few years, the ball and end-all of Halloween.

UNICEF stands for the United Nations Children's Fund. Two years ago it occurred to the Canadian committee of UNICEF that the greatest thing that could happen to the children of the free world would be to enlist in the aid and rescue of the children of less blessed lands all over the earth. And since childhood is on the wane on Halloween as on no other night of the year, it seemed a logical thing to ask the children to cry shell-out not for themselves but for the millions of youngsters both far and near for whom it is impossible that anything, ever, should be shelled out.

The first year, the idea was barely born; but quite a few thousand dollars were raised. Last Halloween 750 groups, large and small, all across Canada, wherever the idea had taken hold, collected $42,000.

This year it is hoped close to 1,000 groups of children will be enlisted in city and town and countryside; and the target is twice $42,000. Once the idea gains a foothold in Canada, it is very likely literally to take over Halloween. For these youngsters who call with the UNICEF boxes will have pretty potent arguments to cry through your letterbox.

One cent provides the vaccine to inoculate one child against TB.

One cent provides five glasses of powdered milk for an undernourished child.

Five cents provides enough penicillin to cure one child of the yaws, a deforming tropical disease.

In case you feel like enlisting, your clergyman can very soon find out for you the location of the nearest UNICEF office.

Shooting an Eagle

Shameful Thing to Do

(From The Calgary Albertan)

ONE of the most sorrowful sights we have seen in a long while was The Albertan's recent news-page picture of two grinning men holding a golden eagle that one of them had shot near Calgary. They obviously thought themselves heroes, but actually their act should be regarded with contempt.

The eagle was said to have been bothering livestock. We don't believe it. It was said to have been catching pheasants. How many pheasants would it eat in a day? Haan't it as much right to a pheasant as a hunter has?

The golden eagle is one of the noblest birds, and it is fast becoming extinct. It ought to be protected as jealously as the whooping crane, while there is still time to save it. Presumably it is not protected by law, or else these two men would not have been so open about their deed.

But laws won't save it. Only the respect of the people will save it. If it is regarded not as a fine work of the Creator, a majestic creature that embodies all nature, but merely as something to be shot and stuffed, then it will soon be irretrievably lost. One eagle is worth ten thousand chickens. The chickens can be replaced. The eagle can't.

We have complained before about people with guns who look on anything alive as good only to be shot, unless it is specifically and rigorously protected by the law. Can't hunters take the opposite approach and shoot only what is a distinct and serious menace or what is sufficiently abundant to be legally and morally classified as game? Why not give the wild creatures the benefit of the doubts?

Shooting an eagle is a shameful deed.

With the Classics

Poor vaunt of life indeed,
Were men but formed to feed
On joy, to solely seek and find and feast:
Such feasting ended, then
As sure an end to men;
Irk care the crop-full bird?
Frets doubt the maw-crammed beast?
Rejoice we are allied
To that which doth provide
And not partake, effect and not receive!
A spark disturbs our clod;
Nearer we hold of God
Who gives, than of his tribes that take, I must believe.

Letters to the Editor

'Jew-Baiting'

Re the statements of Sacred Percy Young concerning "Zionism" as reported by your paper:
It would be very interesting and extremely enlightening I am sure, to hear Mr. Young's full explanation of his very sweeping statements: "Zionism has completely destroyed Christianity" . . . "Christianity was thoroughly destroyed . . ."

Zionism, but neither has it any sympathy with "Jew-baiting" or anti-Semitism, whatever veil it might be presented under. If Mr. Young labors under the delusion that Christianity is destroyed, he and his party might have a sad awakening coming to them. Many wide-awake Christian people will carefully watch and note the attitude of his party leaders towards his statements, especially those amongst them, who combine the pulpit with politics—whose stand on this issue should be very outstanding.

We might very well ask ourselves the question, "Has the Sacred movement the principles of Fascism leavening it from within?"

Pensioners Abroad

Your editorial last Saturday deals with the question of pensioners living abroad, and in the course of it you say "The flow of money out of Canada through this concession should be negligible". This idea that Canada would lose financially was, I believe, voiced in a previous issue of the Colonist, and it is, I submit, erroneous, for it violates one of the fundamental principles of economics, namely, that money cannot cross frontiers.

Pensioner Jones receives his pension in Canadian dollars, and these are of value only in Canada. The ease with which he can change his monthly cheque into local currency, in many foreign countries, obscures the fact that the cheque goes straight back to Canada, through the medium of the admirable financial exchange system which covers most of the world, and is there credited to some Canadian banking account.

It matters not at all, therefore, whether Mr. Jones lives in Victoria, Seattle, or Timbuctu. Wherever he is, he spends his pension in Canada.

Magazine Subscriptions

Schools Will Curb Selling by Students

School-sponsored sales of magazine subscriptions by Victoria Parent-Teacher Federation students will be curbed, Humphrey Golby, president of the board, promised last night.

He was commenting on a protest registered at city hall by John Dirom, 830 Princess, a city news agent.

Mr. Dirom urged council to prevent students competing with city businessmen, and described the practice as gross discrimination.

Mr. Golby said the sales plan began very innocently as a means of raising money for school funds.

Students volunteered for the extra-curricular work and commissions they earned went into school funds.

"In the last couple of years, with tremendous growth of school population and the advent of junior high schools the thing has got too big," he said.

SURPRISED

"I am surprised the magazine vendors didn't stop it a long time ago through the publishers."

Some parents had complained to the Colonist that they felt their children were being exploited. On this point, Mr. Golby stressed again that the work was on a purely voluntary basis and students were under no compulsion to take part.

"Our only approach is through our school system and our principals and trustees," he said.

"We will work out our own problem," said Mr. Golby. Mrs. Marjabeth Willis, 648 Baxter, president of the Greater

'Sacred Record Speaks for Itself'

Premier Bennett said yesterday there was "no reason" to dissociate Social Credit from anti-Semitic remarks made by a delegate to the annual Sacred convention last week.

"Our record speaks for itself," he said. "This is a government which gives fair treatment to all, special privileges to nobody. We welcome to our ranks people of all races, religions and creeds."

Percy Young, a Dawson Creek delegate, blamed Zionism for all world evils during a speech to the convention Saturday.

Beating Up Pensioner Brings Jail Sentence

Wilfred Black, no fixed address, was found guilty of assault by Magistrate Henry Hall in city police court yesterday, and ordered to jail for six months.

With David Thomas, also no fixed address, Black has been charged with robbery with violence, following a beating given Daniel McIsaac, 76, of 482 Foster, last Sept. 30. They were also accused of stealing $50 from the elderly man.

NO REASON

"There is no doubt," said the magistrate, "that on this occasion McIsaac was brutally assaulted. He is an old man, and there was absolutely no reason to assault a man of his condition and age."

"The matter of theft from the person is somewhat more difficult. The only evidence is oath against oath, and there is no real confirmation of the prosecution's evidence.

"Therefore, with respect to theft, I must find you not guilty."

"However," Magistrate Hall continued, "included in the charge is the charge of doing this by violence . . .

DISMISSED

"You, Thomas, said you did not touch McIsaac, and he himself confirmed this. Therefore the charge against you is dismissed."

"With respect to the charge of assault by Black, I am satisfied that you did it. There was no reason for such an action. It is a serious matter, and I take a serious view of it."

"Under the code, I can only sentence you to six months."

Star-Maker Mayer Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Louis B. Mayer, Hollywood's greatest star-maker and one of the founders of the modern movie industry, died early yesterday at the age of 72 from anemia brought on by acute leukemia.

At his bedside when he died were his second wife, the former Lorena Danker, whom he married in 1948, and daughter, Irene, ex-wife of producer David O. Selznick. Another daughter, Edith, is married to producer William Goetz.

Born in Russia and raised in Canada, Mayer soared to such fame and fortune in the movie industry that in 1937 he was listed as America's highest-paid executive, with a salary reported by the U.S. treasury at $1,296,503. He headed the list for seven years.

Nanaimo Alderman Worries

'Hungry Thirties' Due?

NANAIMO — Ald. George Bryce forecast a return to the "hungry thirties" after hearing an unemployment report given in city council meeting Monday.

"If we sit back and wait as we did in the thirties," said the alderman, "we are likely to find ourselves in a similar position."

He was advocating a local improvement program to counselling to information received from NES in Nanaimo. At the moment there are 1,026 without work.

New Hospital by 1959 Nanaimo's New Target

NANAIMO — Nanaimo may get its new hospital by 1959. If the hopes of administrator Gordon Frith, and the hospital board, are realized. Mr. Frith said yesterday that building may start next October.

Cost of the building, to be placed on a 20-acre site in the Woodlands area, is around $4,500,000.

It is now up to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service to approve plans and the way will be clear for tenders to be called. Mr. Frith hopes BCHIS will give approval by Christmas.

Next step would be a plebiscite to form a hospital improvement district.

Suggested date for the first plebiscite is Feb. 13.

Considering how much electricity does — and how little it costs — it's a mighty big bargain.

B.C. ELECTRIC

"LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY!"

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

One of the more noteworthy things that has happened in golf for some time was the winning of the Canada Cup by two Japanese golfers.

Exposed to what was perhaps the cream of the world's golf, Torakichi Nakamura and Koichi Ono finished their collective eight rounds no less than nine strokes ahead of the renowned U.S. team of Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret.

To make the Oriental success all the more complete, little Torakichi was the individual scorer by a wide margin.

Allowing for the fact they were playing on home territory, the Canada Cup competition has given the Japanese an opportunity to break through to their first big golf win. We may yet see one of them winning a U.S. or British open.

After all the Japanese are not only good imitators. They have initiative as well.

Incidentally, I wonder if Torakichi and Ono used those Japanese golf balls which have gained a certain local popularity?

PUBLICITY NEEDED—Congratulations to our little friend William (Titch) Walsh on leaving the "What's My Line" TV panel almost clueless in New York Sunday evening.

Titch had been guessing all right, but I must say I was surprised none of the panelists hit upon the idea that Victoria could be a sportsman's paradise.

They got to the lallyghos and other sightseeing attractions but after that their minds about Victoria must have been pretty well blank.

Maybe our publicity bureau could do something by letting the world know that Victoria has some of the finest golf courses on the Pacific Coast, and what's more they are rarely overcrowded.

Now if Titch had come from St. Andrews, Pebble Beach, Pinhurst, Atlanta or Banff no doubt the panel would have hit on the golf link. We should get the words "Victoria for Golf" on some of our tourist publicity.

Incidentally Phil Taylor was telling me the other day he had two visitors from one of the world's most famous sporting equipment houses. They were new to the district, and they found it extremely hard to believe Phil when he told them golf was a year round pastime in Victoria.

They found it even more difficult to believe when Phil told them that our Daily Colonist Christmas Tree competition, played annually on Boxing Day, had to limit the number of persons who wanted to play in it.

JOE LOOKS THE PART—Joe Pryke, the Gorge Vale professional, looks like being just about the most consistent golfer in the district these days.

In his button partnership with clubmate Johnnie Mervin, Joe played the first 13 holes at Oak Bay Sunday in straight pars and then spoiled it by missing a three-foot putt on the 14th.

This consistency was the main factor in his team's successful defence of the buttons against the Colwood pair, Bob Woods and Tommy Harris. The winning margin was 3 and 2 and the best ball of the winners for the 16 holes was two under par.

Next button challenge is from John Carlow and Fred Painter. This all-Gorge affair will be played at Colwood.

JUNIOR STANDARD IMPROVES—The junior buttons are attracting a lot of attention these days, and the high standard of golf being displayed indicates that a new crop of players who will go far, is being developed.

Not for a long time have there been so many prospects in the district, and undoubtedly Bill Wakeham's success in winning the city, the provincial and Canadian junior titles this year has proved an inspiration.

New holders of the junior buttons are Peter Watson and Al Manson of Victoria. They beat Mike Kolb and A. McLeod of Gorge at Victoria Sunday by 4 and 3 and they played par golf in the process.

This Sunday at Colwood the challengers are Noel Dalziel and R. Ashton of Uplands. Noel was runner-up in this year's city junior, losing a play-off to Bill Wakeham.

MORE TURKEYS WON—Three more turkeys went into storage for Christmas at Victoria Golf Club Saturday when the weekly par competition attracted 49 entries.

Pick of the scores was a six-up effort by Lou Williams. His medal of 73 was the best he has ever shot. Dr. R. McCall also won a bird at 4 up, and the third Christmas dinner goes either to Len Woodhouse or Bob Gunning who finished each 3 up, and who are to play off this week.

LAST-PUTT VICTORY—After the tournament which has run since last April, the Victoria Golf Club's Challoner-Mitchell tournament came to an end Sunday.

Winners of the foursome competition were "Totem" winner Gordon Verley and his partner, Doctor J. A. Hutchison. Beaten in the final were Arthur Musgrave and Charlie Wilson, but it was a battle right down to the last putt.

Musgrave sank a long putt for a four on the last hole, and Doc Hutchison replied with a curling six-footer to gain the half and maintain the one-hole lead.

The annual mixed greensome competition is to be played at Gorge Vale Sunday. Defenders are K. O. Alexander and Mrs. Lloyd Cann.

Old Ivy Loop Marvels At 'Blackman's Brain'

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UP)—College football's coach of the year, said a genuinely impressed Ivy League man, is partly Bob Blackman of Dartmouth.

Unbeaten untied and barely scored on one touchdown, Dartmouth is one of the kings of eastern football and it's an other tribute to "Blackman's brain."

He never played varsity football in college. Polio cut him down while he was a freshman at Southern California in 1937 but the "brain" has been much in evidence ever since at Pasadena College, Denver U and now at Dartmouth.

"I don't see how he did it, but Blackman has taught those Dartmouth kids this game of football from top to bottom and back again," said Yale scout Fritz Barzilaukas.

"They're tricky on offense, but you should see them on defense. They use a 4-4 defense, a 4-3, Oklahoma's 5-2, Philadelphia Eagles' 7-2 and gap-8. And all this," he added with a shudder, "is in the Ivy League."

For the benefit of outsiders in areas where few holds are barred in football, the Ivy League is a precinct in which spring practice is taboo, team physicians have about as much to say as the coach on how much contact practice can be staged, and the amount of time a coach can spend with his players is regulated strictly.

The fact that Yale plays Dartmouth Saturday, in a game that'll go a long way toward settling the league championship, naturally makes big Fritz slightly prejudiced on the matter of Dartmouth. He has scouted the big green and all scouts traditionally "cry wolf!" no matter what the situation.

But there's genuine admiration present, too, for the job Blackman has done.

"Usually, a scout can put a team in one category or another," said Fritz. "It's a passing team or a running team or a team that uses the option to full extent. But you can't peg down Dartmouth.

"It's an outfit that does everything and operates like a drill team of the U.S. Marines. They have so many variations of offense and defense I don't see how Blackman gets 'em to learn all those things in the time he has."

But the "brain" is accustomed to fighting big odds. He was heart-broken when polio cut short his football career, yet refused to quit the game.

"I'd always dreamed of being an All-American," Blackman admits. "But at least the illness started me early on another career I wanted—as a coach."

Lions directors will decide next Monday if coach Clem Crowe is to get a contract for the 1958 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

General manager Herb Capozzi said the meeting has been called to review the past season and plan for next year. Lions lost their chance of making the playoffs this season when they lost to Edmonton Eskimos Saturday night.

Clem Crowe came to Vancouver in 1955 as assistant to head coach Annis Stukus. He took over from Stukus in 1956 on a two-year contract.

Club directors have given no indication of what their decision will be on Crowe's future with the Lions, but the coach got a vote of confidence a month ago with only three dissenting votes out of 26.

Crowe himself is keeping quiet about possible plans for 1958. He says he feels he shouldn't say anything until he knows his status.

Besides, he says he's more interested in finishing the season on a winning note against Winnipeg Blue Bombers here Saturday night.

"We're going all out to play a football game," he said Monday night. "I've told the boys that the Vancouver fans would rather see them beat Winnipeg than any other club in the league."

Down for Last Time

Former welterweight champion Tony De Marco drops to the canvas for the third time in the 14th round last night as Virgil Akins winds up for a last punch at the helpless Boston brawler. Akins' knockout victory boosted him into leading contention as a candidate for the world's welterweight championship left vacant by middleweight king Carmen Basilio. DeMarco had been the top-ranked challenger for the vacant crown until last night's bout. See story Page 9.—(AP Photofax.)

Third Shutout

Hall Again Blanks Ex-Mates As Thomson Gets Only Goal

CHICAGO—Glenn Hall, a goalie who has been making life miserable for his former teammates, and Jim Thomson, a defenceman who hardly ever scores, combined their talents here last night to send Chicago Black Hawks into a second-place tie in the National Hockey League.

Thomson halted a shot past Terry Sawchuk at 12:56 of the third period to give the Hawks a 1-0 victory over Detroit Red Wings. The shot kept the Hawks undefeated at home, gave them a 4-4 season record, and left them tied for second place with New York Rangers, who have one game in hand.

For Thomson, who came to Chicago from Toronto Maple Leafs, it was a rare experience to score a goal, much less the winning one. In 12 seasons with the Leafs, the 30-year-old defenceman had managed only 15 goals. His last goal was scored in 1955. The shot caught Sawchuk on the wrong side of the net and came on a sharp angle after Thomson took a backward pass from rookie Bobby Hull.

SECOND STRAIGHT—It was the third shutout of the season for Hall, who was traded to the Black Hawks by the Wings this season, and his second in a row over the Wings. Hall, who had only four shutouts all last season, has blanked Toronto, 1-0, and beat the Wings, 3-0, Sunday night.

Hall had a comparatively easy time in this one and was forced to handle only three tough shots during the entire game. In all, he made 26 saves, 12 of them during a desperate third-period surge by the Wings.

The Hawks kept Sawchuk busy throughout the close-checking game, Sawchuk, who has now suffered through five defeats and allowed 25 goals in 12 games, made 29 saves last night.

The Wings played without the services of veteran defenceman Red Kelly, who suffered torn knee ligaments in a game last week.

Royals Thumped at Winnipeg; Flyers Held to Tie by Stamps

New Westminster Royals, first western division team to visit the prairie section of the Western Hockey League, found the welcome as cold as the weather last night and were bounced, 6-2, by the Winnipeg Warriors.

Warriors, who scored their fourth win in six starts, moved into first place in the division with the victory, one point ahead of Edmonton Flyers, who clubs split four goals in the third. Glover scored his second goal and Earl Ingardfield got the other for the Warriors, while Max McNab scored both Royal goals to stay in a tie with Fred Hucul of Calgary for the league scoring lead.

At Edmonton, with Flyers' Dennis Riggan and Al Rollins of the Stamps staging a tremendous duel in goal, 3,569 fans were treated to one of the better games of the season.

Riggan handled 31 shots and Rollins came up with 38 saves, 16 of them in the third period.

A third-period goal on a rifle shot by Len Lundie brought Flyers from behind for the tie after the Stamps had battled from behind in the second period. Billy McNeill got the other two Flyer goals, both on passes from Lundie, and drew an assist on Lundie's goal.

Sieve Witluk, Dusty Blair and Barry Ross scored for the Stamps, Witluk getting credit for the first goal when a shot by Bud Syversen bounced in off his leg.

A shoulder-high shot by Ross from 15 feet out put the Stamps ahead briefly in the third period, but Lundie tied it two minutes later on a play with McNeill and Pat Ginnell.

Both clubs played out a penalty in overtime, but neither team could maintain a dangerous attack as the players tired from the rapid pace.

Returns to Dodgers

Returning to the baseball field after finishing out the 1957 season in a front-office capacity with the Washington Senators, veteran Charley Drensen was re-hired yesterday by his former bosses as coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Here, Drensen, left, and manager Walt Alston roll up their sleeves in anticipation of the hard work ahead in getting the Dodgers established on the west coast.—(AP Photofax.)

Tied with 14 Points

McNab and Hucul Share Point Lead

Fred Hucul of Calgary Stampers and Max McNab of New Westminster Royals hold a one-point lead over the pack in the early stages of the Western Hockey League.

Hucul, who picked up two assists last night, and the clever McNab, who scored twice, each have collected 14 points in eight games. The Calgary forward has six goals and eight assists while the veteran McNab has scored five times and set up nine others.

Last night's biggest gain was made by veteran winger Steve Witluk of the Stampers, who picked up one goal and two assists to move to within one point of first place.

Colin Kilburn, manager-coach of Victoria Cougars, is in seventh place in the scoring list with two goals and six assists. Eddie Doroshoff, top goal-getter for the Cougars with five, is 13th with seven points.

Wide-Open Races Expected In Friday's Legion Events

With the absence of starry Ian Fraser and the prospects of a big entry, officials of the annual Canadian Legion road races expect a wide-open battle for top honors in the four-mile open grid Friday afternoon.

Fraser, former Victoria High School long distance ace who is now attending Washington State University on a scholarship, won the event in a breeze last year and in the two previous years took the intermediate and junior division championships.

Fraser, of course, won't be on hand to defend his title in the feature of Friday's three-race program which starts and finishes on the Victoria High center track, but there will be plenty of talent on hand to try for the big perpetual trophy.

In addition to the four-mile open event, there will be a three-mile run for intermediates under 18 years, and a two-mile test for junior boys under 16. Winner of each division will receive a perpetual trophy and the top three in each event will be awarded smaller individual trophies.

Sponsored by the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, the races are expected to attract an entry of some 60 to 70 runners from Southern Vancouver Island schools. High schools in the Greater Victoria area, HMCS Naden, HMCS Venture and Shawnigan Lake Boys' School are all expected to be represented.

Ed Pomeroy of Victoria High, last year's intermediate champion, will step up to the open division this year and will be one of the favorites to pace the field. Another runner to bear watching will be Ian Stuart, a master at Shawnigan Lake, who has had cross country running experience in England.

One of the big threats for the junior championship will be Simon Princentburg, a newcomer to Victoria who will be running for Victoria High School.

Last-minute entries will be accepted and anyone wishing to enter the races is asked to get in touch with Gordon Hartley at Victoria High School.

Nanaimo May Battle For Soccer Franchise

VANCOUVER—Nanaimo, once an enthusiastic soccer centre which is trying to revive interest in the sport, will probably make an application for a franchise in the Pacific Coast Soccer League next season.

Annual meeting of the four-team league will be held here Sunday and it is expected that Nanaimo, and possibly Powell River, will make bids to boost membership to six clubs. Halcyon, St. Andrews, North Shore and New Westminster are at present member clubs.

Man behind Nanaimo's bid to regain soccer prestige is Gogie Stewart. New Westminster's classy forward who now lives in the island city, Stewart said several months ago that Nanaimo was ready for a soccer franchise and that he would try to form a club.

Stewart doesn't anticipate any trouble lining up a team and will probably draw a number of players from Victoria, which was left without representation in the coast league last season.

Seattle Club Loses Olson To Edmonton

Seattle Americans have gained one hockey player but lost another.

Detroit Red Wings announced Monday that Gyle Fleider, who set an all-time professional hockey point record with the Amers last season, was being returned to the Western Hockey League club.

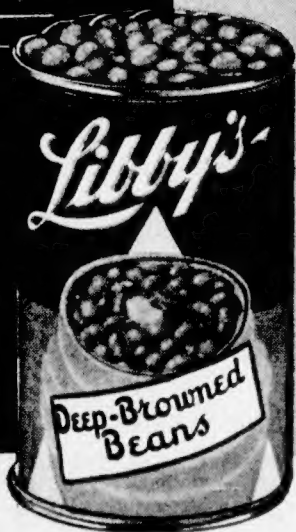

But at the same time, Red Wing officials decided to move Dennis Olson, on option to Detroit, from Seattle to Edmonton Flyers as a replacement for left winger Don Polle, who was promoted to the NHL last week.

Olson, rookie of the year with New Westminster last season, had proved a valuable acquisition for Seattle this season. In the club's first seven games, Olson had collected 10 points on three goals and seven assists.

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP)—Alberta's Northern development commission has been told that Peace River district people are "greatly alarmed" over proposals for a huge industrial power project in northeastern British Columbia.

The three-man, government-appointed commission, sitting here this week after a 2,300-mile tour of the Peace River area, heard the town's chamber of commerce refer in a brief to the proposed Wenner-Gren power development. The brief added:

"Citizens of the Peace River country are greatly alarmed by the proposed power development announced to take place at the headwaters of the Peace River in British Columbia.

"It would appear the project would regulate and possibly reduce the annual flow in this river.

"We firmly believe the Alberta government, in connection with the Federal government, should take immediate steps to assure that no portion of the present annual flow of this river be diverted from its natural channel."

Commission chairman James G. McGregor, also head of the Alberta power commission, said Alberta government officials have sought information on the B.C. project.

Parliament at Work

Early Election Hint Dropped

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today dropped a hint that Progressive Conservative social security legislation would come into effect Nov. 1.

The prime minister conceded that he had committed a "momentary indiscretion" but if his government made no worse indiscretion than that, Canadians would be well satisfied.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Tuesday night approved the principle of cash advances for farmers' interest grants by a vote of 188 to 16, with only Liberals dissenting.

All parties supported the government measure but six Liberals broke ranks to oppose it most of them after having stated earlier they felt the legislation should be extended to other primary producers.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said yesterday that a native Indian would be appointed to the senate "at the earliest possible date."

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons that "over the years" he had always believed in representation in Parliament for Canadians of 200,000 Indians.

OTTAWA (CP) — Science Minister Diefenbaker said yesterday that a native Indian would be appointed to the senate "at the earliest possible date."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he proposed two women, one from each of a union, business, farm, and labor, to represent Canada under federal labor jurisdiction. He said the government had no intention of supporting the proposal because the government had no intention of supporting a woman's business with pay after two years' service had expired. Mr. Diefenbaker said he was in opposition.

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has made no decision to set up a Canadian coast guard, Transport Minister Hees said Tuesday.

In a Commons reply tabled for Thomas Barnett (CCE, Comox-Alberni), he said the defence and transport departments and RCMP now carry out coast guard functions.

Inco Research helps Canada grow

A vast network of Inco mines and plants now obtains copper. Millions are being spent each year for Inco research to recover new products and develop better methods.

NEW WEALTH FOR CANADA FROM INCO ORES

Inco Research finds ways to recover 14 different elements from Inco's Sudbury ores

IMAGINE—14 elements from one ore deposit! But it wasn't always that way. At first Inco ore was mined for one metal—copper. It turned out that the ore contained more nickel than copper. To make use of the ore at all, research had to work out a method of separating the nickel from the copper.

Since that time, Inco research has developed ways of recovering twelve other elements, most of which are present in the ore in minute quantities.

Gold and silver came first, recovered from the sludge left after refining nickel and copper. Then one after another came platinum, palladium, rhodium, ruthenium and iridium; selenium and tellurium.

Sulphur gases are recovered in large and increasing quantities for conversion into industrial products.

After several years of cobalt oxide production, electrolytic cobalt was added to the list of Inco products. In 1955, a 19-million dollar plant was built to obtain exceptionally high-grade iron ore previously lost in the slag.

Thus does Inco research continue to develop new products and processes that help stimulate the growth of Canadian industry and provide jobs for Canadians.

Miss Holloway Wins Club Scholarship

Daphne Gail Holloway, who received the Bay Wages Scholarship given annually by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, is the daughter of Mrs. E. J. Holloway and the late Mr. Edgar Holloway.

One of Victoria's outstanding students, Daphne took 13 credits instead of the 12 required, meaning 1 extra course. She was president of her division, member of the French club, and a member of the Future Teachers' Club, and was also a member of the Victoria High School Alumni.

Other interests outside of school include music. She is a member of her church choir, the Metropolitan United, and also a pianist. Her university career will include a commerce major.

Church Bazaar On Saturday

Victoria West United Church WA will hold a bazaar and tea on Saturday, Nov. 2, at 2:30 p.m. in the church hall. Rev. Nora Hughes will officiate upon the altar.

There will be stalls of home-canning, fancy work, home-made chocolates, gifts, and white apparel. There will also be a fun parade of the children.

was now blank, declarer could have saved a trick (throwing East in with the spade king) after drawing trumps. But he needed to hang the ace of spades and would lose two more tricks to West's and his.

Without the heart lead South could scarcely have avoided making his contract. Declarer can play so as to get a complete count on East's hand making the heart former an automatic play. Since the spade finesse would also succeed the heart would come home.

Board May Borrow $10,000,000 More

Provincial cabinet last week authorized the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority to borrow an additional $10,000,000.

The move brings the total borrowings of the authority up to nearly $56,000,000 out of a possible $60,000,000, but it is expected this ceiling will be raised during the next session of the legislature.

The latest issue is being sold for $96.50 per $100 and the whole issue can be redeemed in October, 1972, at $101.50 per $100.

Atom-Powered Nautilus Sub Neared Pole Under Arctic Ice

GROTON, Conn. (UP) — The shipyards of the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics Corp. today after a record-smashing builders' trial.

The navy said the Nautilus was out of contact with the outer world for 74 hours while nosing her way under the thick permanent ice of the polar pack.

The navy also disclosed that the conventional-type submarine, USS Trigger, accompanied the Nautilus during part of the underwater exploration. The Trigger is the navy's newest snorkel-type sub. It was not revealed to what extent the Trigger took part in the dangerous assignment, which the navy described as taking the submarine farther north and at a faster speed than heretofore accomplished by any other known ship.

Rear Admiral Frederick B. Warder, commander submarine force Atlantic fleet, said Sonar equipment helped in locating and avoiding submerged ice formations. Also, he said, a major significance of the Nautilus' trip was the fact she didn't have to fight the heavy ice fields normally encountered by surface ships in Arctic waters.

The world's third nuclear-powered submarine, the Skate, meanwhile was back at the

Was He Kidnapped And Then Deported?

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Legal authorities yesterday pondered their prickliest problem in years, concerning a Danish-born Canadian citizen now living in Minnesota who got fouled up on a flight from Greenland to Los Angeles aboard a Scandinavian airliner.

Freelance journalist Per Holting sparked a dispute with international ramifications when he tried to scramble onto home base Friday.

Holting, 26, who became a naturalized Canadian last December, was flying back to Winnipeg to edit some tape recordings he made for the CBC on a trip to Greenland. He left Greenland on a Scandinavian (SAS) airliner on the polar route from Copenhagen to Los Angeles.

The trouble began when the aircraft landed to refuel here, where the airline has refueling landing rights only and cannot disembark passengers.

Discouraged by the red tape which required him to remain seated until the plane landed in Los Angeles and then make the whole trip backwards again, Holting took off down the ramp. He excused himself by saying he had "Asian flu."

Airport officials immediately subjected him to a medical examination whereon he was found to be in excellent health. But once on Canadian soil, Holting figured his citizenship rights would prevent him being hoisted back on the "foreign ground" of the airplane.

Not so. Two burly policemen came forward, took hold of his arms, and tucked the struggling journalist back in the plane.

Monday, 3,000 miles later, Holting reappeared in Winnipeg.

Legal authorities immediately began speculating as to whether Holting's enforced re-entry of the plane constituted "kidnap." The Winnipeg Tribune quoted a lawyer as saying he knew of no law under which Holting could have been forced back onto the aircraft once he touched Canadian soil.

FORCED TO LEAVE.
"A Canadian citizen," the paper quoted the lawyer, "was forced to leave Canada against his will. It is true the airline has an agreement with the Canadian government not to discharge or take on passengers or cargo here.

ger any party to such an agreement? Can international rights override the rights of an individual?

"Did St. James (city) police have any right to force Holting back into the plane, since in doing so they were enforcing a federal regulation out of their jurisdiction?"

"Can a Canadian citizen be forced to re-enter a foreign carrier once he is on Canadian soil — or was he in essence deported without trial?"

Flushed With Confusion

CARDIFF, Wales (UP) — A troupe of Soviet singers and dancers arrived here two hours late because one of the group pulled the wrong chain on the train.

The 70-member Ural Ensemble was on its way to perform here when one of the group — identified only as "Ivan" — visited the wash room.

When he pulled the chain the train shuddered to a stop.

It was the emergency brake.

The Big Apple

Enough for a full course meal, in volume anyway, is this spy apple grown by Helen Spitzbergen's grandfather in Wardville, Ont. It weighs two and a quarter pounds and is 17 inches in circumference. (CPC.)

Bonfire Boys Defeat Army

WINDSOR, England (AP) — The 2nd Battalion of the Queen's Grenadier Guards drew back yesterday from the brink of war with 40 angry schoolboys.

Sgt. Maj. Sidney Felton called for volunteers to build the largest and best Guy Fawkes Day bonfire ever seen on Bachelor's Acre.

And Michael Bosles, 14-year-old leader of the Acre Bonfire Gang, withdrew the pickets at Windsor Castle Monday, boys all along the route displayed placards reading, "To blazes with the Guards" and "Grena restore the bonfire."

On Sunday night, somebody burned it down.

Residents said they had seen Guardsmen tossing matches at the pile.

As the Guards marched to Windsor Castle Monday, boys all along the route displayed placards reading, "To blazes with the Guards" and "Grena restore the bonfire."

diers, you ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

By the time the Guards marched back to the barracks, a crowd of moppets was surging back and forth shouting "Build back our bonfire!"

Soon thereafter a battalion spokesman announced that Guardsmen had decided to help restore the bonfire.

"Queerest assignment I've had in 24 years with the army," said Sgt. Maj. Felton.
